

ITALIANS ADDRESSED BY WILSON

Candidate Reiterates His Position on Subject of Immigration

HE IS MISINTERPRETED

In What He Has Written and Favors the Welcome of Proper Kind of Immigrants.

Seagirt, N. J., September 6.—Governor Woodrow Wilson received two delegations of Italians Thursday, one from Jersey City and the other from Brooklyn. He talked about immigration to them.

"There is no sort of visit more welcome to me now," he said, "because I fear that things I have written have been misinterpreted most grossly. I have had frequent occasions recently to meet delegations similar to this, and it has been a great gratification to me that they all speak in generous language of appreciation toward myself, but also with an extremely broad-minded apprehension of what my real position is, and of what my real feelings are."

"The fact is that America has been enriched by having the aspirations of some of the finest races in the world brought to her shores. I don't know whether we ought to rejoice that other countries are in the same degree impoverished, but for myself, as an American, along with myself, I rejoice most heartily, in the circumstances, that men of every European blood have brought to this country their highest aspirations, because they can't bring these aspirations without adding to the aspirations of the country and making the country greater and freer than it would be without them. For myself I have never felt the slightest jealousy of the right kind of immigration. By the right kind of immigration I mean the voluntary kind. When men of their own initiative come with a preliminary love for or desire for America, to establish homes for themselves here and to identify themselves with the country, the result cannot be anything but good for the country itself."

The Governor devoted himself for the most part to his correspondence Thursday. His next speaking engagement is Monday at the New York Press Club, when he will analyze the three political parties, their platforms and aims. Governor Wilson said last night he would attend the Democratic state convention at Trenton, October 1.

GEN. M'ARTHUR FALLS DYING AT REUNION

Venerable Soldier Was Making an Address to Comrades of Half Century Ago When He Was Stricken.

Milwaukee, Sept. 6.—While recalling the deeds of the Twenty-fourth Wisconsin volunteers in the Atlanta campaign, Lieut. Gen. Arthur MacArthur, U. S. A., retired, fell dead, following an apoplectic stroke, at the last reunion of the regiment, known as the Chamber of Commerce Regiment, in the University building last night.

Within a few minutes after the venerable general fell to the speaker's platform in the midst of his address, Edwin B. Parsons, a captain, and member of the regiment, suffered a paralytic stroke on the right side from the shock of seeing his comrade fall, and had to be carried from the hall.

The old soldiers turned away, with tear-dimmed eyes, then, one by one they knelt by the side of their stricken commander.

"Our Father, who art in Heaven," began one of the veterans, and the others joined him in repeating the Lord's prayer.

At the conclusion of the prayer, as the soldiers arose, one of them took from the wall an American flag and spread it over the dead general. Then silently the old soldiers left the hall.

The general started his address by telling his listeners that it was exactly 50 years ago when he and his comrades had left Milwaukee on their journey to the front. This was to be the last reunion.

Democratic Club Meeting

There will be a meeting of the Licking County Democratic Club at the Club Rooms on South Third street this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

This meeting is scheduled as a "Wilson Rally." There will be a number of speeches pertaining to the political issues of the day and the meeting promises to be an enthusiastic one.

All Democrats and all voters who expect to support Woodrow Wilson for President will be welcome and are urged to attend.

CHAOS MAY RESULT FROM ADOPTION OF AMENDMENTS, NEWARK LAWYERS' OPINION

This City May Be Under Entirely Different Form of Government From Adjoining Municipalities—Possible Effect of I. and R., Mechanic's Lien and Other Amendments Discussed.

"I can't think that the people of Ohio fully realized what they were doing when they placed their stamp of approval on most of the amendments submitted at Tuesday's election," said a Newark lawyer in talking of the effect of the amendments locally and over the state.

"No lawyer would venture to say what chaos will result from the amendments. No one understanding the full purport of the new constitution will deny that the next few years will see much confusion in legislative and judicial matters."

"Under the new constitution radical changes may be made in the method of governing cities, in the court procedure and in the passing of laws governing the state at large."

"With the home rule amendment adopted, the form of government of each municipality may be entirely different. Newark may have the commission form of government while Zanesville might be operated under a municipal code formed by the state legislature."

"A lawyer practicing in Newark are retained by a Zanesville man, might have to spend weeks familiarizing himself with the statutes of Zanesville before he could intelligently conduct a case in the Muskingum county courts."

"This same law giving the municipalities the right to own public utilities, clashes with other amendments, some of which makes state and municipal bonds taxable. At the same time, the earnings of these public utilities cannot be used to pay off the bonds issued for the purpose of purchasing the property. This bonded indebtedness must be charged against the municipality's tax revenue."

"The mechanic's lien amendment cannot help but discourage the building operations, particularly of the man in moderate circumstances who wishes to build a home. A liberal interpretation of this measure is that the builder may be liable to twice the cost of his house. For instance; if he lets the contract as is the custom now, and the contractor completes the job and draws his full compensation but fails to pay the laborers and the material men, all these are given the right to secure a lien against the property."

"If the wage earner's little home cost him $2,000 and the contractor he employs is dishonest and fails to pay all or part of the labor and material bills, the home owner may be compelled to pay the $2,000 all over again."

"Some of the amendments I believe, will result in much good, at least they can do little harm. The jury reform will no doubt result in less difficulty in trying civil suits, though justice may be impaired slightly."

"The adoption of the amendment making it easier to amend the constitution is regarded by some as being undesirable if not dangerous. It makes it easier and amendments may be submitted at every state election."

"The I. and R. may be brought into use in this regard and any one having a pet hobby which he wants in the constitution may get his proposal before the people through this method. The I. and R. provides that the people reserve the right to propose laws and amendments to the constitution." By this law, a petition asking for the amendment, if signed by 10 per cent of the electors and submitted to the secretary of state must be placed before the voters of the state on a separate ballot.

"This I. and R. amendment makes it possible to submit to the voters at every regular election, the woman's suffrage proposal, for an example, until the proposal is adopted."

"The home rule amendment will not affect Newark until the legislature acts, unless Newark people want a change in the form of government. The amendment gives Newark the right to adopt its own method of government, but it also provides that the city may be governed by a code adopted for municipalities in general. This may be the present code re-enacted."

The liquor amendment can work no harm. It doesn't affect the existing regulatory laws and it provides means by which the saloon may be improved. According to the provisions of the amendment no (Continued on Page 11, Col. 6.)

SCORES OF LIVES LOST AND MILLIONS IN PROPERTY DESTROYED BY FLOOD THAT SWEEPS OVER SECTIONS OF THREE STATES

Views of Wabash Wreck Near Mingo Junction, W. Va.
Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 6.—As a result of the terrific storm and flood which swept over portions of eastern Ohio, western Pennsylvania and the Panhandle of West Virginia recently, at least two score persons are dead, many more are homeless and millions in property have been lost.

The accompanying photographs show the havoc wrought by the flood to a Wabash train near Mingo Junction, W. Va. An engine and eight cars rolled into Cross Creek. The train's contents was strewn along the flood district for miles. Thousands of dollars' worth of goods, mostly groceries and canned goods, were in the cars.

Mine Guard Sentenced to Two Years in Penitentiary Indicates Drastic Punishment.

Charleston, W. Va., Sept. 6.—Orders calling out all the military in the state, were taken to mean that the territory under martial law in the Kanawha coal field is to be extended to include parts of Boone and Lafayette counties. The original proclamation suspended the constitution only in the portion of Kanawha county. Governor Glasscock would not admit that he proposed an extension of martial law district but it was apparent that the serious situation could not be handled safely unless a larger section of the country around Paint and Cabin Creek was included. Thirty prisoners were in the guard house today awaiting trial before the military commission. The sentence of W. Y. Tucker, mine guard to two years in the penitentiary late yesterday indicates that the military commission will inflict serious punishment where evidence is obtainable.

TAFT MEN IN NEBRASKA MAY SUPPORT WILSON

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 6.—Taft Republicans are on the verge of abandoning the campaign in Nebraska and throwing their support to Wilson. State Chairman Currie stated that the best thing Taft Republicans can do is to vote the Democratic ticket.

This advice followed the refusal of the Roosevelt presidential election could not be handled safely unless a larger section of the country around Paint and Cabin Creek was included. Thirty prisoners were in the guard house today awaiting trial before the military commission. The sentence of W. Y. Tucker, mine guard to two years in the penitentiary late yesterday indicates that the military commission will inflict serious punishment where evidence is obtainable.

PROTEST AGAINST SENDING TROOPS

Charleston, W. Va., Sept. 6.—Approximately 10,000 miners were added to the idle men in the Kanawha coal field today when union miners left their work against the protest of the officials of the United Mine Workers of America. Several thousand miners have arrived here for the meeting tonight which is scheduled to protest against the declaration of martial law in the Paint Creek country. It is expected that some of the military companies now on their way to the strike section will be held here tonight until after the meeting.

STATE DEPARTMENT REALIZES THE NEED OF FEDERAL TROOPS

Washington, Sept. 6.—American Ambassador Wilson was today instructed by the state department to urge upon the Mexican government the direct need of federal troops in northern Mexico to protect Americans. Frantic appeals to the state department tell of the danger there to Americans and call for help. In the majority of cases they come from mining companies located in the northern states. More than 100 business concerns have made representation of the seriousness of the situation.

GOV. WILSON IN COLUMBUS SEPTEMBER 20

Seagirt, N. J., Sept. 6.—Governor Woodrow Wilson today announced the itinerary of his first trip to the middle west. It follows: September 17, Sioux City, Ia.; September 18, Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minn.; September 19, Milwaukee, Wis.; September 20, Columbus, O.; September 21, Pittsburg, Pa. All the dates but the first are to be Democratic mass meetings, the first is a state fair.

At Columbus Governor Harmon will preside and James M. Cox, candidate for governor, will speak. The governor will travel in a special car.

KEALING ON JOB AT TAFT HEADQUARTERS

Joseph B. Kealing, Republican "boss" of Indiana, has joined the working force at Taft headquarters in Chicago, where he will remain until after the election. Kealing is credited with being a past master of the art of politics. He was sent by the Taft pre-convention managers to Texas and his work there caused the ousting of the Lyon-Roosevelt delegation from the Lone Star state.

"We expect to make a vigorous and aggressive fight for President Taft and the whole Republican ticket," says Kealing.

"Up to this time one of the greatest difficulties we have had to contend with is the lack of confidence we could win owing to the split in our party."

TREACHERY IN CABINET SUSPECTED

Heads of Taft's Departments Said to be Favoring Roosevelt

FISHER GOES TO HAWAII

Has "Important Business" in the Islands to Keep Him off the Stump.

Washington, Sept. 6.—Disaffection in President Taft's cabinet over the third party movement and Roosevelt is the latest startling development in politics. A robust story got into circulation yesterday that Secretary of the Interior Walter Fisher has been impaled on the horns of the Bull Moose.

The word that Secretary Fisher had Roosevelt leanings broke out first in high official society and came to the ears of a prominent administration officeholder. Mr. Fisher had not committed any grave act of hostility to the administration and couldn't very well be punished for his leanings toward the Progressive party.

Besides, if a row should be kicked up about it and Mr. Fisher hauled over the coals and thereupon should resign, that would be a worse kettle of fish than ever.

Whether Mr. Fisher had urgent business in Hawaii calculated to keep him off the stump in this campaign cannot positively be asserted. It would look that way, however, to a man up a tree.

To go back a little, it will be recalled that Mr. Fisher, before his appointment to the cabinet, had a wide reputation for progressivism in Chicago and his home state of Illinois. He was put into the Interior department to succeed Ballinger because the Ballinger tenure had left a bad taste in the mouths of the Progressives. Since then he has not laid aside his progressivism.

He has advocated progressive policies as regards Alaska, and has been progressive on questions affecting the public domain generally. About four months ago he made a speech in favor of the initiative and referendum. That speech was good reading for the Progressives, but it fell like a wet blanket over the administration crowd in Washington.

Mr. Fisher is not the only one of the Cabinet who inclines strongly to the Roosevelt side. Postmaster-General Hitchcock is looked on as not hostile to Roosevelt. He is devoting himself religiously to the business of the postoffice department, while apparently letting politics severely alone. Secretary of the Navy Meyer, it is said, has strong Roosevelt leanings. In fact, aside from Attorney-General Wickersham, Secretary of War Stimson and Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, the president is getting practically no political help from his Cabinet.

Citizen Soldiers Mutiny and Seize Barracks and Government Building.

Mexico City, Sept. 6.—Citizen soldiers who have mutinied at Frontera, in Tabasco, one of the most important cities on the southeastern Mexican coast, attempted today to seize the barracks and government building at Oaxaca, in the state of Oaxaca. Indians and Bandits are operating on a large scale. Since the death by torture of Carlos Mendez, a wealthy merchant in Oaxaca, traveling parties fear to venture outside the cities without an escort. One favored method of murder by the rebels is to tie the victim to a tree and leave him to starve to death. Rurales have reported finding emaciated bodies tied to trees with half the bark eaten through, where the victims had gnawed at it to sustain life as long as possible.

KENTUCKY STRIKE SITUATION ACUTE

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 6.—Disquieting reports reached here today from Bath county where 150 employees of the Roos Run iron mines are on a strike for an advance in wages. Officials of Bath county have conferred with the governor and attorney general regarding the situation. Troops may be sent to the scene. The mines have been tied up for several months and several men have been shot and wounded from ambush.

REAPERS KICK ON STANDING

Springfield, Sept. 4.—While Springfield baseball fans are not disposed to quarrel with the fact, there is general belief that Springfield was not entitled to the third place in the Central league standings, announced by Dr. E. R. Carson. The story was corrected from time to time, they say, to keep up with Dr. Carson's figures, and the whole league was kept in a jumble by sporting writers, each of whom had his own idea of the standing of the different clubs ought to have. According to the Springfield newspapers, the reapers finished in fourth place.

BALL PLAYERS FORM UNION

New York, Sept. 4.—Major league baseball players formally launched their new protective organization yesterday. It is known as the National and American League Baseball Fraternity, and its constitution of incorporation was signed by Supreme Court Justice Delany. According to the petition for the incorporation, its object is to foster fraternal feeling among the players in the two big leagues. Dave Fultz, former baseball and football star, who was largely instrumental in bringing the new movement to a head, is at present president of the association.

While the articles of incorporation have not been made public, it is generally believed the players intend, for mutual protection, to demand representation of their brotherhood in the councils of organized baseball. The call for the organization resulted from the difficulties of Ty Cobb, which precipitated a strike among the Detroit team in Philadelphia early in the season.

Mr. Fultz explained last night that the managers had not been asked for their approval or opinion as to the formation of the fraternity.

The incorporators of the fraternity are: Robert Byrne, Pittsburgh; William F. Carrigan, Boston Americans; Ty Cobb, Detroit; Samuel L. Crawford, Detroit; J. E. Daubert, Brooklyn; Michael J. Doohan, Philadelphia Nationals; John J. Evers, Chicago Nationals; David L. Fultz, formerly of the New York Americans; Arthur Griggs, Cleveland; John F. Henry, Washington; Miller J. Huggins, St. Louis Nationals; Christopher Mathewson, New York Nationals; D. B. Pratt, St. Louis Americans; Edward Sweeney, New York Americans; William J. Sweeney, Boston Nationals.

BALL PLAYERS BANQUETED BY C. E. McDANIELS

C. E. McDaniels, proprietor of McDaniels' Cafe, in North Park Place, was host last night at a banquet at his place of business, the members of the Newark Baseball club being his guests.

The members of the club arrived from Mansfield at 8:30 over the B. & O. railroad, and they went at once to the cafe and surrounded the banquet table.

Mr. McDaniels personally supervised the preparation of the menu, which was excellent. It consisted of chicken consommé, oysters, salad, pickles and olives, fried spring chicken, mashed potatoes, sweet potatoes, new peas, bread, butter, ice cream and coffee.

The players enjoyed the spread hugely. After the coffee was served, Christy Kearns was called on for a speech and he surprised his fellow players with his eloquence. His remarks made the after part of the affair a pleasant feature.

Those seated at the table were: Manager Barry McCormick, Thomas Hanley, Christie Kearns and Scott, Phil Hinton, Charles Markey, Errol Williams, John Shovelin, John Kendall, Meister, Madden, C. E. Thompson, George Redman and F. A. Woolson.

Police in Louisiana Have Written Confession of Suspects Now Under Arrest.

Shreveport, La., Sept. 6.—Execution of a double murder plot by which Mrs. C. C. Bailey conspired to rid herself of her husband, a wealthy mill owner and A. L. Watson, who aimed to do away with his wife was revealed today by Sheriff Fluorhey, who says he has the written confession of both Watson and Mrs. Bailey who are confined in jail here.

According to the confession the sheriff says Mrs. Watson was killed in a Texas town several months ago when Watson came to Metcalf, La., where Bailey operated a lumber mill. He obtained employment and was taken into the Bailey home as a member of the family. Bailey was murdered Monday when Watson was arrested. He first declared Bailey was slain by a burglar.

Wilson has gained seven pounds in weight since he was nominated for President. He now weighs 177 pounds.

Thomas F. Smith, secretary of Tammany Hall, called on Governor Wilson Wednesday. He said that he had every reason to think that Governor Wilson would carry New York
by a large majority.

COMMUNICATED

Editor Advocate: The writer observing that a Newark newspaper stated that Ohio had never cast its electoral vote for a Democratic presidential candidate, requests the Advocate to publish the facts.

READER.

At the first five presidential elections, 1804 to 1820 inclusive, Ohio cast her electoral votes for Democrats. Ohio also cast her electoral vote for Democratic presidential candidates in 1828, 1832, 1848 and 1852.

The election of 1852 was the last one in the life of the Whig party.

Of course it is only a question of the size of Ohio's majority for the Democratic candidate in 1912.

That this year will mark the finish of the life of the Republican party is much more plainly indicated than was the outlook for the death of the old Whig party in the campaign of 1852.

That band of Democrats in Vermont deserve the thanks of the party for their consistent attendance at the polls, when they know before they go, that they can't well get a man they vote for from governor to constable. For 60 years they have gone from their homes to the ballot box, going for the sole purpose of registering their opinions on public questions, never with the hope of winning the election. Their example is one of devotion to principle that others would do well to follow.

The country is in for two months of campaign oratory, but it will take only a few hours to count the vote.

The Democratic party is the voice of honest labor and honest capital.

Vermont shows that Roosevelt can divide the Republican party. Tom removes any possible doubt of Wilson's election.

We back up our claims with the goods. See them in our window.

AMERICAN HOUSEHOLD ARTICLES SOLD CHEAPER ABROAD THAN IN AMERICA

How the American Consumer is Robbed by the Protected Interests of His Own Country

Tariff Reform Committee Gives Examples of Discrimination Practised Against American Consumers By Tariff-Favored Manufacturers Selling Cheaper to Foreigners.

BY BYRON W. HOLT,
(Chairman of the Tariff Reform Committee of the Reform Club.)

While most protected manufacturers were ashamed of themselves even back in 1890 for selling their goods at greatly reduced prices to foreigners and were certainly not parading the fact that they were discriminating against their own citizens—who pay the tariff taxes and are therefore entitled to all the "benefits" of "protection"—yet it was comparatively easy in 1890 to obtain the export prices of most exported articles. In fact, two export journals, the American Mail and Export Journal and the Australasian and South American, then published the export prices in Spanish, while a monthly issue of the Engineering and Mining Journal contained a "prices current" with the statement that "discounts are for export only."

Of course many leading Republicans and protectionists then denied that protected manufactured goods were commonly sold cheaper for export. Such prices, they said, were given only in rare instances and under exceptional conditions. Moreover, they claimed that the lower prices quoted to foreigners were for the wholesale trade alone. To refute these statements the New York World published a letter from the Engineering and Mining Journal, which freely admitted that the lower (export) prices quoted in its "prices current" were the retail prices at which any foreigner could buy our goods in our domestic market, but that "our domestic substantially are barred from the prices quoted in these columns." The letter stated that in a number of instances "houses have written us: 'Prices furnished are for export only,' and it would be most injurious to us if these figures were circulated in the home market."

Foreign Fields Pre-empted.

Ten years ago, before American manufacturers had established so many agencies abroad, it was easy for the foreign purchaser to get American goods shipped to him in retail quantities direct from the manufacturer at the export price quoted in the discount sheets. But in this year's investigation the Tariff Reform Committee's "export agent" frequently met with such limitations
as this:

"We already have the Ausra-lian territory covered, and would, therefore, not be in position to allow you to make export shipments to that country."

Of all the manufacturers from whom our "export" agent sought prices on goods for Newfoundland, only one denied giving special rates for export lower than domestic prices. This one happened to be a manufacturer of agate ware, from whom our "exporter" actually had purchased goods when he was engaged in the export trade on his own account, and the concern did sell cheaper abroad than at home.

The large manufacturers generally have representatives in New York who look after their foreign sales, and to these agents many of our "exporters" inquiries were referred.
Dun and Bradstreet were asked to look him up, and his office was pressured by salesman anxious to press upon him at special discounts the goods he had inquired about in his letters.

There are about 22,000,000 households in the United States. That not one of them escapes the greed of the tariff-protected manufacturer will be very plainly seen by comparing export and domestic prices on articles of common use in the home.

The Tax On Getting
Despite the alleged blessings of "protection," a large proportion of American households have to get up early, as the long day is still the rule. In "protected" industries the nine and ten hour day is still common, and even the twelve hour day still prevails. The American who toils to prove protection a blessing is entitled to the cheapest awakening to his day's labor. But instead of a cheap alarm clock the American must pay a dear one, after voting a protective duty of 40 per cent., that prohibits competition from foreign clockmakers.

Nearly everybody is familiar with the discrimination that has been practised by the "Watch Trust" against the American consumer, resulting in some merchants buying Elgin, Waltham and other American watches cheaper in Europe than the ones sold here, and shipping them back to this country. But clocks are too bulky to make this practice profitable, and the American is helpless.

If our "export agent" who pretended to be developing trade in Newfoundland had not succeeded in obtaining the carefully guarded export discount secrets of the New Haven Clock Company, it probably would have been that American clocks are sold cheaper abroad than at home. The discrimination of this and other American clockmakers against the American user runs from Tuesday is ironing day, which the kind-hearted protectionists have tried to make happier for the housemother by compelling her to pay nearly a third more for her flatirons, as is proved by the export prices quoted by the Philadelphia manufacturers of the "Enterprise" brand. The heavier the iron the greater the weight of protection, as it is fixed at four-fifths of a cent a pound. The set of sadrions these honest Quaker City people offer for export at 53 cents

they will sell to the "protected"
Americans for $1.23.

Wednesday being baking day, the protected American household has other chances to see how painstakingly careful protection has been for them. The meat chopper costs them just double the export price, the slaw and vegetable cutter and the potato shredder cost two-fifths more than they would sell for across the line in Canada, and the pots and pans of aluminum—if they can afford such conveniences—come 50 per cent dearer. It is chiefly due to that 45 per cent. duty.

Sewing Machine Extortion.

Thursday the children's clothes have to be made, and the Domestic sewing machine is handy. It would be just as handy, however, if the American family could get it for the export price, $18.42, instead of the $30 or more they have to pay. The $11.58 extra charged his wife for this sewing machine is a week's cost at wholesale $8, against $6.65

the price to foreign purchasers — is he not justified in asking himself whether he looks more "protected" than he is? He has been "stung" through "protection" on nearly everything he and his family have used from end to end of the week. The chances are 9 to 1 he himself is not in a "protected" industry, for as most only one out of 10 Americans is so employed. He sees that "protection" makes him pay more at home for manufactured articles than they sell for abroad, with 3000 or 5000 miles freight added. In the name of "protection" he has paid from 10 to 100 per cent. more than the export price for the necessities of life.

It will not take him long to figure out that he feels what he looks, buncoed out of a good share of his earnings because protection raises price
but not wages.

We back up our claims with the goods. See them in our window.

Mr. and Mrs. George Welsch announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Rose, to Mr. Thomas M. Allen.

The Ladies' Diversion club will meet with Mrs. Clark Cochran, at her country home, Wednesday, September 11. Members take the 12:35 interurban car.

Mrs. Nelson Pierson has issued invitations for a thimble party Monday afternoon at her suburban home. The event honors Mrs. Denis McNair of Muskogee, Okla.

The Elks Social club entertained with a delightful dance at the Harris pavilion at Buckeye Lake Park on Thursday evening. A special car left the city at 7 o'clock and Parker's orchestra of Columbus furnished a delightful dance program. About thirty couples enjoyed the outing.

Mrs. W. C. Gardner was hostess at a euchre party on Thursday evening when she complimented Miss Jane Irwin at her home in Hudson avenue. Players making up seven tables participated in the game and the souvenirs were awarded to Mrs. Albert Veltch and Mr. Garrison. The Gardner home was prettily arranged with asters.

Delightful were the appointments at the pink tea given on Thursday afternoon by Mrs. D. F. Dowden at her home in East Locust street. Mrs. Dowden entertained out of compliment to Mrs. Broadus of New York. The rooms were beautifully arranged with pink roses and assisting the hostess was Mrs. Broadus and Mrs. Eliza Rankin, who acted as aids in the rooms and Miss Jane Irwin and her guest, Mrs. Fenton Evans of Connellsville, Pa., and Mrs. Malcolm Baker presided at the tea and coffee urns. The table in the dining room had a centerpiece of pink roses and shrouded from this were strands of pink satin ribbon to the candlesticks bearing pink tapers. The hours were from 2 to 4 o'clock and during that time about sixty guests called.

CHARGES

OF GRAFT IN COLUMBUS POLICE DEPARTMENT MAY GO TO GRAND JURY.

Mayor Karl's Effort to Dislodge Chief Carter May Be Far- Reaching in Effect

Columbus, O. Sept. 6.—Indications are that Mayor Karl's efforts to dislodge Chief of Police Carter from office may have a far-reaching effect in the entire Columbus police department.

The hint of petty graft among some members of the department has brought out in the hearing before the civil service commission and the frank testimony of some witnesses that protection money was paid by gambling house proprietors, have caused Prosecutor Turner to prick up his ears. He has obtained transcripts of some testimony and is looking it over with the view to presenting the facts to the grand jury. Mr. Turner may hold aloof until he learns what action City Solicitor Bolin will take. The police prosecutor, who acts under direction of Mr. Bolin, receives $700 of his salary from the county to attend for the state to such cases as have been brought to light. Mr. Bolin declared he had not decided what action he would take.

CHATS WITH THINKING WOMEN by Barbara Boyd

What is Your Motto?

THE mother was sitting sewing, and in front of her paced her small boy, bravely announcing he was her knight and that he would protect her from all danger.

"What motto have you emblazoned on your shield?" she asked gravely, to humor his fancy.

The little fellow thought a moment, and then remembering some of her admonitions when he had been careless, said, "Who breaks, pays."

That's a good motto for any one to take through life, isn't it? For the girl who thinks she can break laws of health or morals, for the husband or wife who thinks marriage vows can be broken with impunity, for any one who cherishes the delusion he can break without paying. It is a thought that will straighten them up and bring them back to the right course, when they are thinking of straying.

And they might add to it the thought that not only do they pay, but others pay. The innocent often pay as high a price, sometimes a higher, than the guilty. And the man or woman, who, perhaps, thinks he is willing to pay the price of breakage, may pause when he thinks what he is compelling others to pay.

A woman foremost in good works had for her motto, "Never frown, never sigh, keep step." How often has this little motto been an actual cheering friend to her when perplexities or troubles pressed? "Keep step" is enough in itself to make the blood bound and the whole body feel invigorated.

Another woman chose the one word "Integrity," and it lifted her over many hard places.

Very practical people may think such things are foolishness. But just try such a little silent helper and see if you are not somewhat amazed at the good results that ensue.

Study out what is your special need, what special tonic or stimulant is necessary to combat your most pronounced weakness. Then choose a motto to supply it. And when you feel the need of help in the matter, call your little motto to your aid, and dwell on it. You will find the strength coming to hold you true to your right course.

For there are many forces in this world that we dream not yet of. And the power of a motto, when we phrase it in this, what seems to many, childish form, is one of them. For inside the form is a force connected with unseen forces; and by thinking upon this motto we connect this force with our real self. And then comes directly to us strength, or whatever it is we need, to spur us on to the duty or work that waits.

So the question of a motto reaches deeper and takes hold of more tremendous things than seems on the surface. And since we can get help in this way, why not study out just what is our need, choose a motto to embody it, and through the medium of it, connect up with the thought forces of the universe? The experiment is worth a trial any way.

THREE ARMY OFFICERS KILLED IN AIRPLANES

Munich, Bavaria, Sept. 6.—Lieutenant Steger, German military aviator, of the Bavarian army, was killed here this morning during a reconnoitering flight. He had ascended in his biplane to locate the position of the opposing force in the maneuvers. His machine fell 200 feet.

Stevenage, Eng., Sept. 6.—Two more British army officers lost their lives while flying today. Captain Patrick Hamilton had taken Lieutenant Stewart with him as a passenger in his biplane. One of the wings of the aeroplane collapsed and the machine fell from an altitude of 250 feet and was destroyed. The bodies of the two officers were found in the wreck.

BLOODY

SHOES AND REVOLVER OF MURDER SUSPECT FOUND BY THE POLICE.

Indications Are That East Liverpool Contractor Was Stabbed to Death With Ice Pick.

East Liverpool, Sept. 6.—The police today uncovered two new clues in connection with the murder of Richard Burrows, wiring contractor. They found a pair of bloody shoes belonging to John Cobourne, held in connection with the murder, in the basement of the Burrows home. They discovered Cobourne's revolver at his father's house. It was smaller than the one he had when arrested, and the police believe that after being felled, Burrows' head was kicked in by feet that wore the bloody shoes. The discovery of the revolver confirms the police theory that Burrows was not shot to protect Mrs. Burrows, as Cobourne is said to have claimed in his alleged confession, but was stabbed with an ice pick.

PRIVILEGES

OF MASONIC CLUB EXTENDED AND OFFICERS ELECTED THURSDAY NIGHT.

Action Taken to Increase the Social Membership and Create New Interest in Club.

The annual meeting of the Newark Masonic Club was held last evening for the election of officers, which resulted in keeping practically the old officers in, with the exception of two trustees, who desired to be relieved. F. M. B. Windle was elected president; Geo. D. Orr, vice president; A. F. Crayton, treasurer; Dr. E. V. Prior, secretary; C. R. Porter, J. L. Worth and W. C. Symons, trustees.

The only matter of importance other than the election of officers, was the resolution adopted, which will open the club to all Master Masons, not now members, for the ensuing year to a social membership by paying a year's dues in advance. This action was taken to create an interest in the club and to give all those Masons who are not now members an opportunity to enjoy the privileges of the club without having to pay the membership fee of $10 at this time. The social membership does not carry with it any right to vote or act in the meetings of the club or to have any property interest in the belongings of the club, but simply to have the right to enjoy the same social pleasures that the active members of the club have. The time limit was made one year to gap the time between now and the completion of the new Masonic Temple, which the Masonic Temple trustees hope to have built and be occupied within the year. The annual dues are $6, hence the membership fee is $10, hence those taking out the social membership card at this time will save the membership fee for the coming year at least. The club room has proven a very attractive place to the members and it is desired that all Masons enjoy the pleasures of the social features of it. It is believed that this move on the part of the club will result in all the Masons in the city becoming affiliated with it.

FIRST THINGS

The first international congress of commerce was opened at Brussels, Belgium, 32 years ago today. The fifth international congress of chamber of commerce, the first to be held in America, will open in Boston the latter part of this month. The purpose of the organization is to facilitate the commercial intercourse of nations and to promote cordial relationship between them.

The first of the series of Shakespearean festivals in England was opened at Stratford-on-Avon 142 years ago today, and continued three days with dramatic presentations, feasts, processions, illuminations and masquerades. The festival was devised by David Garrick. These festivals have since become immensely popular and the memory of the Bard of Avon is honored on an increasingly spectacular and magnificent scale.

MILADY'S TOILET TABLE By Mme. D'MILLE

"When occasion demands quick hair-dressing nothing is finer than a dry shampoo, made by mixing four ounces of rice with a package of Therax. Sift a little over the head, brush out, and your scalp is clean and your hair beautifully lustrous. Light, easy and easy to do up."

"Ladies troubled with fuzzy growths are desirous to have their delicate tresses fair without pain or injury. Make a paste with Glatone and water, spread it on the hair, let remain for a few minutes, then remove and wash surface."

"Plain glycerin applied to eyebrows with finger tips causes them to grow thick and beautiful, and brushing will train them into well-formed arches. Eyelashes come in long and silky if glycerin is applied to the roots."

"If your face is sunburned, spotted or muddy-looking, apply in the morning a beautiful lotion made by dissolving in original package of mayatone a half-pint of witch hazel. This treatment replaces powder. It will hold all day, will not run off or show, and makes the skin soft, smooth and satin."

BROKEN LEG AND $6,000 GETS FREEDOM

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 6.—Mandel Lieber, of Katchitoches, La., has finally escaped from his near-marital entanglements with Miss Rose Rubin, a beautiful young woman of McKees Rocks, at the cost of $6,000 and one broken leg.

Lieber, after being arrested on complaint of the bride-to-be for breach of promise, led an indignant family party to the residence of a rabbi to effect a settlement.

Then he excused himself for a few minutes. Next heard of him he was found in the yard of the rabbi's home with a broken leg. He had jumped in an unsuccessful effort to escape.

The settlement was made afterward at the office of an attorney, following a conference between the principals and wealthy relatives of Lieber, who came here from Shreveport, La. Lieber paid his betrothed that was $6,000.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

The Chicks Took a Sail On the Pond

Chicks Went Sailing Over the Water.

MOTHER BIDDY had a new flock of chicks, and she was as busy as she could be.

"The little chicks don't mind Biddy very well," Evelyn told daddy.

"Hens are stupid things, anyway," Jack added.

"Once Mother Wyandotte had a beautiful family of young ones. Ten of them were and nice and soft as little chicks could be," said daddy.

"When the ten went out walking with Mother Wyandotte every one admired them. Mother Wyandotte was very vain of her family, and some of the hens said she out on airs about them.

"As they grew older the chicks sometimes wandered off by themselves. They seldom went far, and as they always came safely home Mother Wyandotte did not bother much about them.

"Clever chicks like mine can take care of themselves," she would say.

"Indeed, madam, your chicks are not half so clever as mine," Mrs. Bantam once said. "My chicks are clever enough to stay with me, where they won't get into trouble."

"And no doubt Mother Wyandotte would have had a quarrel right then and there with Mrs. Bantam, but little Bright Eyes Wyandotte came squawking to her mother.

"Oh, come, hurry, quick!" she cried. "Come to the pond!"

"Mother Wyandotte was so frightened that she ran off to the big pond.

"When she got there what a sight there was for a mother chicken's eyes. Little Bessie, who lived in the big house, had been sailing his boat. It was a small one, with masts and sails, and Bessie had thoughtlessly left it at the landing. Fluffy and Sharp Bill had strolled on board to see what it was like. Before they could get off a breeze blew the boat away from shore, and there they were floating around over the water.

"The cries of Mother Wyandotte brought Bessie and his mother out to the pond.

"It didn't take Bessie long to bring the ship to shore, and the two chicks were safe.

"Mother Wyandotte meant to scold them at first, but when she saw Mrs. Bantam standing beside her with a smile of triumph on her face she turned to Fluffy and Sharp Bill very sweetly:

"Ah, my dears, it was very kind of Master Bessie to leave his boat there for your use, wasn't it?"

"But of course when she got them safely home she said:

"Don't do it again."

WORKING ON PLANS FOR NEW HOSPITAL

A meeting of the City Hospital trustees was held Thursday night for the further consideration of plans which are now being prepared by Mr. Frank L. Packard of Columbus. Mr. Penmore, of Mr. Packard's office, went over the sketches in detail and several minor changes were made at the suggestion of the trustees. The architect is now at work on the working drawings. A number of the trustees visited the new hospital at Ashland early this week, the Ashland building having been planned by Mr. Packard. The expense of the trip was paid by the trustees personally and not out of the hospital fund.

The plans for the fifty-bed hospital (which can be doubled in size when more room is needed) are to be finished soon, in order that the foundation of the new building may be constructed this fall.

Those who have not as yet made their initial payment on subscription are urged to do so promptly, as funds are needed to carry on the work.

Miss Cartwright's Constancy

"If Amelia Cartwright would pay a little more attention to the love of the living and less to that of the dead, she might be happier, and save Amos Till Haghaast from wearing his heart out."

Mrs. Lowell stabbed her needle viciously into the sock she was mending and rocked violently.

"Amelia has a constant nature," said Ann Briggs.

"Constancy is all right if there's any reason for it," said Mrs. Lowell. "But everybody knows that Charles Burroughs wasn't true to her before he died. He was engaged to two girls at once."

"But Amelia doesn't know it," said Miss Ann, gently, "and it would hurt her to know."

"Well, wouldn't it be better for her to be hurt a little and get waked up to the fact that it is Amos who has really loved her all these years and who deserves to get her?"

"Well, I don't know," said Miss Ann. "I hate to see Amos hurt and I hate to see Amelia hurt. Love is love, and I guess most of us have to suffer for it."

"There she goes, now," said Mrs. Lowell, glancing out of the window. "I knew she would. Every Saturday she's off to the cemetery with a wreath of pink flowers. Sometimes it's roses and sometimes it's sweet peas and sometimes it's verbenas. But it's always pink."

"Poor thing," said Miss Ann.

"That's what hurts Amos so," said Mrs. Lowell. "He knows Amelia hasn't enough to live on and he has plenty. And I think he knows, too, that she would love him if she would let herself. He said to me not long ago: 'Aunt Carrie, when I talk to her about it, she just cries and says, "Please don't. Poor Charles thought I had it in me to be constant—and I want to be faithful to him—I want to be faithful!"'"

"There goes Amos now," said Miss Ann. "Do you know he's got some pink roses in that paper? I believe he's on his way to the cemetery."

"Well, he'll meet Amelia there," said Mrs. Lowell, "and I guess she'll be touched to see that he has remembered Charles."

But Amelia, sitting forlornly at the foot of her lover's grave, was to meet some one else before Amos, for a slender little woman approached and asked, "Is this the grave of Charles Burroughs?"

"Yes," said Amelia. The girl unwound yards of wadded paper from about a magnificent wreath. It was evidently made up by a city florist, of pink hot-house roses, and valley lilies, with maiden-hair fern veiling the whole.

"Oh," gasped Amelia, "how beautiful!"

"He always loved pink," said the girl.

Amelia looked up startled. "You knew that?" she asked.

"Yes," said the girl. "When I wore pink bows on my hair he always admired them. And there was a little pink lawn dress that he made me wear the night he left me."

"He died ten years ago," said Amelia. "It is a long time—did you know him—just before he died?"

The girl nodded. "He lived out west in the same town where I taught. And we were engaged." She did not see Amelia's start of surprise. "He came east—just to see his folks, he said, and then he was to come back—and we were to be married."

"Then he died," the girl's voice went on, "and all these years I have wanted to come and lay a wreath on his grave. I saved my money so that I might. And—now I am here—and—and I can't bear it."

Looking on the other's grief, Amelia wondered why she was unmoved. She wondered, too, at a certain lightness of heart. She felt free—free to live her own life, to love as she would.

She saw Amos coming up the hill. She bent over the sobbing girl. "He loved you," she said tensely; "you have that to comfort you."

Then she went swiftly down the hill and met Amos. "I don't just know what has happened to me," she said. "Take me away, Amos, take me where nobody can see me cry."

He led her to a place screened by a row of chairs. "What is it, dear heart?" he asked, tenderly.

She told him. "Was he—as fickle as that?" she demanded.

"Everybody knew it," he said, "but you."

"And no one told me. Oh, Amos, I feel so sorry for that girl. Somehow I don't feel sorry for myself. Perhaps I've been just clinging to a dream. But she knew him and lived close to him and, oh, I hope he loved her best. It would be so tragic if—if she is mourning a false lover, Amos."

"And you?" Amos asked.

"I found out after he came east that he wasn't all that I had thought he was—but I thought he loved me—and it seemed so pitiful for him to be up here alone—with no one to care—and so I tried to be true."

There was a light in Amos' eyes as he bent over her. "And now that he has come one else to love him—can't you pity me—Amelia?"

"I declare," said Mrs. Lowell, a month later. "Amos says Amelia is going to marry him. And when I asked him his favorite color, he laughed and said it was blue."

Good News for Novel Readers.

When an author can get $75,000 for the serial rights of a new novel it is safe to guess that his book is going to be an affair of national interest.

This is the price which Rex Beach, author of "The Spoilers" and "The Never-Do-Well," has just received for first publication of his new romance, "The Net," and the enterprising newspaper that has secured the story is The Chicago Record-Herald. "The Net" is described as a thrilling novel of love, mystery and adventure dealing with the murderous deeds of the Italian "Black Hand" in the United States. Mr. Beach himself says it is the best he ever wrote. "The Net" is to be published exclusively in The Chicago Record-Herald, beginning next Sunday. It will be an event for all story lovers.

SUICIDE OF AGED WOMAN BY HANGING

MRS. ELIZABETH ELLIOTT, DESPONDENT ON ACCOUNT OF ILL HEALTH, ENDS ALL.

Secured a Rope About Her Neck and Jumped Off a Chair in Hall of Home.

Mrs. Elizabeth Elliott, aged 76 years, a widow residing at 18 Bowers avenue, committed suicide at an early hour Friday morning by hanging herself with a clothes line in the hall at her home. The body was discovered by members of the family shortly after they arose at six o'clock.

Mrs. Elliott had been despondent because of ill health, for several months. However, her condition had not caused any alarm to her children.

Sometime during the early morning hours Mrs. Elliott arose and went into the hall. She fastened one end of the rope to the banisters on the second floor.

She then mounted a chair and secured the rope about her neck and jumped off the chair. Death resulted from strangulation. None of the children was awakened by the woman's deliberate preparations.

When the body was discovered, Coroner Wiriach was notified and after visiting the home ordered the body prepared for burial. Undertakers Bazler & Bradley took charge of the body and will have charge of the funeral services.

The funeral services will be held at the home Monday morning at 10 o'clock. Interment at Cedar Hill cemetery.

NEWARK BOY HAS EXCITING EXPERIENCES

Mrs. W. E. Richards, residing north of Newark, has received a letter from her son, Guy Richards, an employee of the Pennsylvania railroad at Denison, describing the awful scene following the big flood in Eastern Ohio and Western Pennsylvania Sunday.

Richards and his brother were hurried to a railroad car, where they were taken to the flooded district. The two-thirds of the force of men work at Denison.

There they assisted in the recovery of those drowned in the raging waters of the creeks and rivers. It is believed that the loss of life in the flooded district will reach 500.

At Colliers, where Mr. Richards was stationed, but 11 houses out of a village of 75 buildings remained standing. Seventeen miles of the Pennsylvania railroad company's tracks were washed out by the storm and traffic was delayed for several days.

The track repair crew, augmented by the shop men, worked day and night repairing the damage and covering bodies.

Mr. Richards states that it was the worst scene he ever witnessed and he hopes to be spared such an experience in the future.

best pulp, especially when fresh roots were not available. Her grain ration from the first was gradually increased to twenty-five pounds or a little more, but later reduced to as low as nine pounds per day.

As near as can be estimated, the average amount of grain fed was twelve or fourteen pounds daily. She also received, when it was available, green corn with the stalks and also green clover and any other green feed that might be available, including feed from the pasture.

A cow of fair qualities produces four gallons of milk daily. She is not worth keeping for a dairy unless she will do this and remember it takes no more feed, som or labor for one giving five gallons than for one giving three or four.

This reasoning applies with equal force to other kinds of stock, but more particularly horses and swine. It requires only a little intelligent care in selection to raise a horse that will bring $250 to $300, whereas $150 to $200 is the price of an ordinary animal. The feed bill is not a dollar more.

In raising cows breeding and selection will produce animals that will earn $100 to $150 a year or that will sell for $100 to $300, while the indifferent kind are worth next to nothing.

There is the same difference in breeding hogs. The gain comes chiefly after the owner has produced something a little better than ordinary. This truism applies to poultry, fruit and farming generally.

TWO WAYS WITH HOGS.

Care Taken With Animals Repaid Owner In Amount of Pork Yielded.

The results of different treatments of hogs came to my notice last spring, when a neighbor sold two average pigs eight weeks old to a man who did not have any other hogs, says a West Virginia correspondent of the American Agriculturist. He bought the two hogs to make pork the next fall and, of course, wanted to give them a good chance to do their best. They were fed wheat middlings, milk and scraps from the table, in addition to the pasture they gathered. They were grade Chester Whites, farrowed in April. These two pigs dressed between 150 and 175 pounds each when about seven months old.

The pigs that had not been sold and out of the same litter were allowed to run on pasture, and when corn was ready to feed they were fed enough corn to put them in pork condition, but when slaughtered at about the same time as the other two they only weighed sixty-five to seventy pounds each. There was a difference of nearly 100 pounds between these well fed hogs and their mates not so fed, and it was wholly due to different treatments. It is easy to see which was the more economical pork producer—the well cared for hog or the one which got enough feed to barely live until fattening time. The difference in value was almost $10, as pork sold at 10 cents a pound here last fall. The two well cared for hogs did not eat near $10 worth of feed from the time they were separated from their mates until they were slaughtered.

It Frightens Them. Do your chickens or your neighbor's fly over your picket fence into your garden? If so nail a little strip to each post and stretch a white twine string about six or eight inches above the top of the pickets. The same plan will apply to woven wire fencing. A white twine string stretched along each panel of fence is all the horrors of the inquiry for a hen, and she will positively avoid it. The sketch will give you the idea (A A strips, B string)—A. G. Little Farm Hints. Never mix sun slaked lime with manure, as it will cause the escape of ammonia, one of its most valuable elements.

Clean out the chaff and hayseed on the barn floor and scatter it over bare places in the lots and pastures. This scattered seed represents good money value, and it should be put to good purpose.

If you want spinach for use in early spring, at the time when dandelion greens are ripe, sow seed in September or October. Frequently it does not winter well, especially if not protected by covering lightly with litter.

Where practicable the fruit orchards should be planted in autumn. Among the principal advantages are leisure time, better physical condition of soil and the early establishment and consequent earlier growth of trees. Owing to its less hardy nature the peach is to be excepted from the fall planting.

GOOD ROADS AND CAPITAL PUNISHMENT AMENDMENTS ARE STILL IN DOUBTFUL COLUMN

Columbus, Sept. 6.—The fate of the good roads and capital punishment amendments voted on the special election last Tuesday cannot be determined until after the official returns are complete, which probably will not be before Saturday night, was the prediction today of Assistant Secretary of State Secrest. The woman's suffrage amendment was defeated. The official count of the smaller cities is slow in coming in and returns from a majority of them indicate that the negative vote was cast on practically all of the amendments. Of the 88 counties of the state the official count of but 44 have been received at the office of the secretary of state this forenoon, and the results previously announced have not been altered.

HORSE FELL, WAGON UPSET, MAN INJURED

Shortly after 10 o'clock this morning the ambulance of Criss Bros. & Jones was sent on an emergency call to Summer street, where John Sedeston, 129 North street, an employee of C. J. Doneff, the baker, was injured when the horse which he was driving, fell and overturned the heavy wagon.

Sedeston was turning on Summer street when the wagon was thrown on its side. The driver was caught under the wagon and was in a perilous position because of the plunges of the terrified horse. Witnesses of the accident hastened to his assistance, lifted the wagon and cut the horse loose.

CALL OF THE COLLEGE

"Oh, why be farmers, stockmen, sawyers?" the college clamors, loud and clear: "why not be editors or lawyers, and wear the linen all the year? Why soil your hands with some laborers? Why carry swill to cow or hog? Rise, rise a-ove your toiling neighbors, and be a fourth rate cadogan! Why wear duck overalls and carry the humpbacked mule and brindled steer? Come to the college in a hurry, and learn to be a bank cashier!" Through all the land the boys are dropping the yeoman's tools, in deep disgust, resolved to leave the trade of the plowman, resolved to wear boiled shirts or bust. Professors all are overcrowded; the starving lawyers throng the streets; and there are men in surplice shrouded who should be busy hoeing beets. Stenographers we're by the legion who haven't learned the way to spell; and in the fertile farming region the grangers raise an awful yell. "Oh, send us help," we hear them crying, imploring, with ten thousand tongues: "send us the husky skates who're trying to earn their living with their lungs; send us a grist of half baked preachers, of lawyers who have no brief, send us stenographers or teachers, to shuck the corn or bind the sheaf!" Above the grangers' mournful barking, above their pleas for working men, we hear the college sweetly calling: "Forsake the plowshare for the pen!"

THE HUMAN PROCESSION

By O. Terrence.

MANY STAGE STARES ARE NATIVES OF DOMINION.

There is something in the Canadian atmosphere that tends to bring about that condition of mind popularly known as "stage struck." In the Dominion, as elsewhere, many are called but few are chosen, but the list of American stars who claim Canada as their birthplace is amazingly large.

Other natives of Canada who have attained prominence on the stage include Hope Booth (Mrs. Renold Wolf), Ida Hawley, Arthur Deagan, Eugene Cowles, William Cornleigh and Frazier Coulter. Donald Brian was born in Newfoundland. Last, but by no means least, James K. Hackett, actor and manager, is a "Canuck," having been born on Wolfe Island, Ont., September 6, 1859. Mr. Hackett will celebrate his forty-third birthday today as one of the most active producing actor-managers of America.

Mr. Hackett was long admired as the "ideal husband" of the stage, owing to the devotion he manifested for his beautiful wife, Mary Manning, the English actress he had introduced to the American public. On November 23, 1896, Miss Manning made her premiere on this side with Mr. Hackett in "The Courtship of Leonie."

It moved also "the courtship of May," and in the following May the pair were united in marriage, which was kept secret until the following January, when Mr. Hackett became ill, and Miss Manning's devotion in attending him made it advisable to announce that they were married. Ten years they lived happily together, and their wedded life was cited as one of the great and lasting passages between stage folk.

Would that their affection might have continued, but alas! as Saman-the Allen world say, 'twas not to be. A serpent crept over their nuptial Eden, and four years ago the estrangement was followed by an open separation. Friends sought to patch up the difficulty, and for a time a reconciliation was hoped for. Miss Manning did withdraw her divorce suit, but later she resumed the action, and in April, 1911, she obtained a final decree with the custody of her daughter, Esme, seven years old.

Last year Miss Manning became the bride of Frederick E. Wadsworth, a Detroit manufacturer, and last December Mrs. Beatrice Mary Beckley, an English actress who had been Mr. Hackett's leading woman, became Mrs. Hackett. The present Mrs. Hackett was with her husband's company when Miss Manning sued for divorce, and it was rumored that Miss Manning was jealous because of the attentions paid by her husband to his leading woman.

A short time ago, in the absence of a league game in Washington, Senator Gardner passed on his way to the senate to watch a bunch of boys playing on the Capitol grounds.

One little chap had just muffed a pop fly that, if safely handled, would have retired the other side. He had to stand for many shouts of derision and deprecating epithets, and was greatly cast down.

Senator Gardner called him over to him.

"Do you know," said the senator, "I can remember, as if it were only last week, a game I played in, at center field, when I was about your age, and how sore everybody got at me because I kept mugging balls, always at the worst possible time. In the last inning I came to the bat with two runs against us and knocked a three-bagger that put us one ahead. And all the boys that had been making fun of my fielding were the first to 'bust me to their shoulders and carry me off the field in a blaze of glory. So you can see how little sense there'd be in being cast down over a poor play, when people are so quickly swayed by a streak of luck. A buxom and winsome widow decided to continue her late husband's business (wholesale meat purveyor), and appointed his confidential and reliable man, one John Jinx, as her manager. John, though an astute and clever business man, could neither read nor write. The widow partly cured him of the latter defect by teaching him to write: "Settled, John Jinx," when giving a receipt for accounts paid to him.

The business improved and prospered, as likewise did the amatory feelings between the widow and John, the latter fruitfully in a proposal and acceptance of marriage. After the usual preliminaries the ceremony took place, followed by an adjournment to the vestry to complete the legal formalities.

The necessary particulars were duly entered in the marriage register, and happy John was the first asked to sign. John, somewhat blushing, took pen in hand, and clearly and unmistakably wrote as his signature in the register: "Settled, John Jinx."

"Hardly a child is round-shouldered when he enters the primary grade," she says, "yet many are decidedly so before they reach the fourth grade." She thinks that the idea of symmetry of desks should be abandoned for the idea of the symmetry and health of the child.

POLITICS IN WEST VIRGINIA.

The Senatorial Contest Is Intensely Hot.

WATSON SEEKS RE-ELECTION.

Elkins, Republican, and Edwards, Progressive, Also Are Candidates—Congressman Smith of Michigan Calls For a Mediator to Adjust Taft-Roosevelt Differences.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.
Washington, Sept. 6.—[Special.]—We might have been unaware of the intense political fight which is now raging in West Virginia, had it not been for the presentation in the senate on the day of final adjournment of a mass of charges against the present senators. It soon developed that there is a hot senatorial contest in West Virginia. Senator Watson is the Democratic candidate for re-election. Former Senator Davis Elkins is the Republican candidate, and it is supposed that William Edwards is the Roosevelt candidate for the place. At all events in bringing all the charges of corruption in the last senatorial election to Washington and dumping them into the senate there was evidence that the campaign is waxing warm in the Mountain State.

Advised Silverton.
Congressman Martin was trying to get a bill passed for a mining experiment station at Silverton, Colo. Jim Mann was worrying him, as usual. "There is no better place for a mining station than Silverton," said Mann sarcastically. "I have been there and was glad to get away as soon as I could. I could get nothing to eat, but that was not the case with the other occupants of the bed."
"When you say it is a good place for a mining station I want you to mean it," said Martin.
"I do mean it," insisted Mann.
"I want you to say it in an entirely different way," said the Colorado man. "I want it in a western way. Out there when you say a man is a blankety blank you must smile. I want you in this case to be solemn and grave."
"It is impossible to look solemn and grave over a funny thing like this," said Mann. And that ended Silverton's chances.

Chance For a Mediator.
In a fearful "leave to print" speech Congressman Samuel W. Smith of Michigan points out how Taft loved Roosevelt and Roosevelt loved Taft. "I have been deeply pained," says Smith, "pained and made sad by the estrangement which exists between these former devoted friends." And he is not alone. A great many others are "pained and made sad," particularly those Republican congressmen who have got to choose between the Taft and Roosevelt factions this fall, with the chances that both will be beaten by a Democrat. Smith calls for a mediator to adjust the differences between these men.

Conservationists Win.
All efforts of members of congress to get out from under the control of conservationists are futile. Amendments to bills to release western lands pass the senate to be defeated in the house. Bills for water power privileges pass both houses, but are vetoed by the president, as was the Coosa river dam bill. It is doubtful if enough votes can be rallied to pass such a bill over a veto.

Plenty of Candidates.
Down in Alabama they think there is pretty good senatorial opportunities. There are a number of candidates for Senator Johnson's seat, among them being Congressman Abernethy, Hobson and Clayton. Oscar Underwood is not in the race, preferring to remain as leader of the house.

Each Side Has a Lawyer.
Each side of the senate has a lawyer. That does not mean that there is any lack of lawyers on both sides, but that each side of the senate has what might be called "the lawyer." For many years Spooner held that position for the Republicans. Bailey has been "the lawyer" for the Democrats, but as he does not give much attention to senatorial duties now Rayner has taken his place. Sutherland is almost "the lawyer" for the Republicans, but it is scarcely to be expected that a man so far west as Utah would do. Root is no doubt the real thing as "the lawyer" for the Republican side.

These men are supposed to be ready at all times with authorities on every phase of legal questions arising in the senate and come forward voluntarily with correct information.

Gets His Bills Through.
When the eight hour bill was up in the senate, with every indication that it would pass, Senator Gallinger offered an amendment and pleaded with Senator Borah to accept it. "I realize this bill is going to pass," said the New Hampshire senator. "The senator from Idaho always gets his bills through because he is a good tactician. His amiability carries them along on the tide."
Borah has been quite successful in passing bills to which there has been strong opposition, notably the child labor bureau bill.

APPLE BLISTER CANKER.

Fungus That Causes Serious Losses to Owners of Apple Orchards.

In a circular on the "Apple Blister Canker and Methods of Treatment," issued by the Ohio agricultural station, it is stated that it is increasingly evident that serious apple diseases must lie back of the reported dying of mature apple trees in many parts of Ohio. Field studies of conditions, supplemented by laboratory examination made during the season of 1911 and the early spring of 1912, show that serious cankers are present in these diseased orchards. By the term canker reference is made to any apparent bark disease of fruit trees. In these diseased areas the symptoms of dying bark and extension of disease causing an enlargement of the spots are usually evident.

In the southern and eastern portions of Ohio the condition known as a "neglected apple orchard" is for the greater part caused by the blister canker fungus.
The fungus, being a wound parasite, is difficult to control when once it has taken hold of a tree, and except in cases of slight attack the tree ultimately will succumb to this disease.
To prevent infection from the blister canker fungus it is necessary to prevent the drying of the tissues, which is done by covering the wound with a suitable dressing.
Prevention of infection and orchard sanitation, as by removal and destruction of diseased parts, appear to be the only methods of control.

A WORD FOR OUR FARMERS.

It does not follow that the American is a poor farmer because he produces less to the acre. He does this largely because the acre is worth less—because, in other words, the man is worth more. The American farmer produces more per year of labor than does the European farmer; he lives much better; gives his children a better education; has for himself more leisure. When land is worth several hundred dollars an acre and labor but half a dollar a day, then we, too, can make the soil produce more per acre.—Country Gentleman.

Valet Work For the Horse.
To give the horse a glossy coat wash him thoroughly with warm water and castile soap. When thoroughly dry rub sawdust in the wrong way of the hair and let it stay on all night. This remove in the morning with a stiff brush, being sure to get every particle out. Then take a flannel cloth, dampened with coal tar, and go all over the animal, after which rub him with another cloth until he is dry, and the work is done. By dipping one's thumb in vinegar and placing it on the horse he can be made to look dapple, however, the point being to give the thumb a twist in each place where a dapple is wanted.—American Cultivator.

Diets For Calves.
Hay tea is recommended for calf rearing. Pour boiling water over good hay and let it brew, then strain off. Begin with three parts milk and one part hay tea and gradually work on to one part milk and three parts hay tea. About three quarts are sufficient at first and feed in a lukewarm state. There are innumerable calf rearing diets. Skim milk and a little wheaten flour are given in some districts. Equal parts of milk and sweet whey are favored, while the use of oatmeal cereal is recommended by some. Of all home-made calf meals boiled linseed and sweet milk are probably the most favored.—American Cultivator.

Windows For the Stable.
Large windows should be used in lighting a stable, and they should be put rather low. More light will be diffused through a large window than through several small ones. Windows too high do not admit the light properly, while if they are too low there is danger of breaking the glass.—Iowa Homestead.

Who Are Conducting Tests, the Results of Which May Revolutionize Car Lighting.

While there has been nothing said about it to the public a series of tests are now being completed at Washington, D. C., which are expected to result in the complete revolution of present methods of railway car lighting and bring about as nearly as it is commercially practicable an ideal system of car lighting.

The test was brought about by the work of the Postal Committee, which was some time ago appointed to devise plans and specifications for the standardization of postal cars.

Every phase of the construction was gone into by the committee, and so one was the work done that henceforth every postal car built in this country will be of the same standard, breadth, height and interior as it will have the same inside equipment, and every piece of material, a matter not how important in itself it may be, will be made and used according to specifications.

Officials of the Baltimore & Ohio became interested in the lighting question and they thought that a lighting test might result in improved methods of car lighting. They issued invitations to the members of the Postal Committee, the railway committee, and the various large railroads and lighting companies to send representatives and cooperate in the conduct of such a test.

In response to this invitation, a crew of experts, under the direction of Arthur J. Sweet, representing the Holophane Company of Newark, Ohio, whose home is still in West Church street, this city, one of the most famous illuminating engineers of the country, conducted the tests. The crew was composed of representatives of the various railway and light companies and every type of lamp and reflectors were tested. The tests were conducted in a regular railway coach, which had been completely darkened and by means of delicate instruments every ray of light was accurately measured, so that when the results are tabulated the possibilities of each variety of light will be definitely known. The tests conducted are highly technical, being made under the Bureau of Standards, and the results will be published in full in one or more of the scientific magazines.

This week is the third since the tests were started. During the first two weeks the investigations dealt with electric lighting devices exclusively, but this week the various types of gas lights were tested out. It is estimated that the cost of conducting tests will aggregate fully $15,000. This will be equally divided between the various railroads and lighting companies.

LITTLE BENNY'S NOTE BOOK

They can say what they like about New York and New York, and awl, and sed to pop at breakfast yesterday, but I wouldn't want to live there, awl. I've bin readin in the paper about the terrible graft and merrers, she sed.

Good, sed pop, nollege is power, sed the little boy sed when he discovered the jam behind the prunes on the top shelf. That district attorney Whitman is awl rite he sed, going after the men higher up, the men who's doing.

They tawked sum moar about it, and after supper wen my cousin Artie came around, I sed to him. Let's play New York graft, and Artie sed. Was that and I sed. We are the district attorneys and we are after the men higher up.

Higher up the what, sed Artie, and I sed, higher up than anything, the men higher up are worse grafters than the men lower down and it's our duty to serve notice awn them to appear and tell everything they do, just like district attorney Whitman.

Just then the front door bell rang and who was it but Mr. Parkins, which is my sister Gladdis' fello and has a little mustash like and eye brown and a cane.

Let Mr. Parkins be the man higher up sed Artie and I sed. Awl rite, and we got behind the parlor door and pretty soon we herd Mr. Parkins and Gladdis tawking awn the sofer, Mr. Parkins saying, I never sed to any athir girl wat I am saying to you, Miss Gladdis.

O go awn I don't bleeve it, you men are awl like, sed Gladdis. Listen to the terrible man higher up, fello children, I whispered to Artie, he's lying and frainting to beet the bat.

SANFORD HENRY CHARGED WITH ASSAULTING BOY

Sanford Henry of Hoover street, a colored man, was before Mayor Swartz Friday morning on a charge of disorderly conduct, the specific charge being that he entered a North Fourth street milk depot and created a disturbance by using vile and profane language.

While this was the only charge against him at the time of his arraignment, he was later charged in an affidavit with an assault on a small boy in the place, which resulted in a serious injury to the victim.

According to the story related to the police, Sanford slapped and choked the lad until he suffered from a hemorrhage. The father filed an affidavit Friday morning, charging assault and this case will be heard later.

Henry pleaded guilty to the charge of disorderly conduct and was fined $10 and costs but the fine was suspended. Henry paying the costs in the case.

This is disgraceful, sed Artie, we must serve notice awn him.

So we wrote awn a big piece of paper. This graft is to much, you must appear and tell awl you no, and I took the paper in the parlor and laid it awn Mr. Parkins lap and waited out to Artie agen.

TASTE, SMELL AND HEARING RESTORED

A Simple, Harmless Remedy. Quickly Relieves Catarrhal Deafness

The thousands who suffer the miseries of colds and catarrh and claim they have never found a cure can get instant relief by simply anointing the nostrils with Ely's Cream Balm.

Unlike internal medicines which upset the stomach, or strong snuffs which only aggravate the trouble, this cleansing, healing, antiseptic Balm instantly reaches the seat of the trouble, stops the nasty discharge, clears the nose, head and throat, and brings back the sense of taste, smell and improves the hearing. More than this, it strengthens the weakened and diseased tissues, thus protecting you against a return of the trouble. This remedy will cure a cold in a day, and prevent its becoming chronic or resulting in catarrh.

Nasal catarrh is an inflammation of the membrane lining the air passages, and can not be reached by mixtures taken into the stomach, nor can it be cured by snuffs and powders which only cause additional irritation. Don't waste time on them. Get a 50 cent bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist, and after using it for a day you will wish you had tried it sooner.

Mothers should give the children Ely's Cream Balm for colds and croup. It is perfectly harmless, and pleasant to take.

ESCAPE

OF THREE OCCUPANTS OF AUTO-MOBILE WAS MIRACULOUS IN EXTREME

Machine Was Wrecked in a Collision With a Railroad Train North of Newark.

Z. H. McKnight, whose home is on the Perryton road, together with three friends, escaped death almost miraculously Thursday night, when the machine in which they were riding was struck by Baltimore and Ohio train No. 15 at the second crossing north of this city.

The McKnight party was driving south along the road and failed to heed the approach of the northbound train with Engineer John Ayers, 148 East Main street, in the cab. The heavy train struck the big automobile, breaking the frame, the left front spring and reducing the left front wheel to splinters. The crew expected to discover the lifeless bodies of the occupants of the automobile, but were joyfully surprised to find that the motorists had escaped without injury.

The passengers of the wrecked machine were brought to Newark by local autoists who happened on the scene, while employees of the Auditorium garage were sent to the crossing for the crippled car.

When an Advocate representative called at the garage Friday he found the big white Buick car, bearing the license No. 40450, a veritable wreck. The whole front of the machine had been crushed, the wheel, spring and frame wrecked and broken, and the fender rolled up as though paper.

Itching piles provoke profanity, but profanity won't cure them. Doan's Ointment cures itching, bleeding or protruding piles after years of suffering. At any drug store.

A Physician's Report on Tuberculosis Medicine

"Have used Eckman's Alternative in several cases of tubercular glands of the neck, with excellent results every time. In one case it cost me $50. for the girl was put on it only until she could arrange to be operated, and in a short time an operation was not needed. I suppose your records are just as fine as of old. You know my faith in it."

Eckman's Alternative is effective in other forms. Read what Mrs. Garvin says:—

"Gentlemen: I have gained twenty-two pounds since last February and my baby is in perfect health. She is now four months old. I have been waiting since she was born to see how I would get along. I am now doing all my work, have been ever since she was four weeks old, and I am steadily gaining. I do not cough or raise anything at all. I believe my lung trouble is cured."

(Signed) MRS. M. E. GARVIN. Note—Mrs. Garvin is the mother of seven children. Eckman's Alternative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in upbuilding the system. It does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. NOT WEATHER IS QUICK TO AFFECT THE BOWELS

Well-Known Fact That Extreme Heat Causes Constipation.

The disposition to eat cold food and indulge in iced drinks in one reason why constipation and diarrhoea is so prevalent in summer, and there is no time when people should more carefully avoid bowel disturbances, as much serious disease is directly traceable to these conditions. We need all of our strength to withstand the enervating effect of heat.

To regulate the bowels and quickly relieve even the most aggravated case of constipation, the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is highly recommended by all who have ever used it. Unlike cathartics and violent purgatives, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin acts gently on the stomach, liver and bowels, without gripping or other discomfort, bringing relief in an easy, natural manner. It can be used with perfect safety by the most delicate woman or child, and yet is equally effective for the strongest constitutions. Mild, pleasant to take, and inexpensive, it is the ideal family laxative. By cleansing the bowel tract thoroughly and eliminating the foreign matter and poisons that irritate and inflame, it will quickly check summer diarrhoea and restore normal conditions.

Druggists sell Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin for fifty cents a bottle—a larger, family size costs one dollar. Get a bottle and keep it in the house; it will save many times its cost in doctor bills. A free trial bottle, postpaid, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 406 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

SUNDAY CLOSING IS ADVOCATED BY SHOE DEALERS

Dayton, O., Sept. 6.—Probably the most interesting feature of the entire convention of the Ohio Retail Dealers' Association at the Algonquin Hotel, which closed yesterday, was the report of the insurance committee, which showed that the company had on hand $428,225, and that the cost of writing this amount of insurance was $765.

Under the state law an insurance company cannot secure a charter until it has a paid-up capitalization of $500,000, and this amount will probably be available by the next meeting at Columbus next March.

The closing hour was devoted to a discussion of the best methods to improve the shoe business.

One of the important resolutions adopted pertained to the closing of all shoe stores on the Sabbath day and punishment of violators. Other resolutions concerned the prohibition of giving discounts to teachers and members of the clergy, the detriment of fake bargain stores and mail order houses.

The election of officers will take place at the Columbus meeting.

Live up to these conditions and the nerves, brain, stomach, kidneys, heart and liver will keep in perfect working order. It is not new nerve tonic that is needed, but plenty of nourishment. Anything that you can do to build up your general health will strengthen your nerves. You will find Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People the greatest help. Free from any harmful or habit-forming drug, they start to work at once cleansing and enriching the blood, strengthening the stomach and carrying nourishment to every nerve, tissue and tiny cell throughout the body. Mrs. E. G. Gardner, of No. 3 Seely street, Adrian, Mich., says: "I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills after I had given up all hope of ever having my strength back again. I became run down through overwork and worry. I was in bed and helpless for two weeks. My limbs from my knees down felt numb and I had no use of them. I had terrible pains in the top of my head and creeping sensations in the back of the neck. All summer and fall I doctored. As I thought I would get no faster, yet many mornings I could not go to breakfast for I would wake up feeling so faint and light-headed. Then I made up my mind to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I began with them and gradually increased the dose until I was taking three pills after each meal. I used the pills until my nerves were steady, my appetite and sleep good and I felt entirely well. My daughter has since taken the pills for thin blood and poor color with good results."

Write for the free booklet, "Diseases of the Nervous System." Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are highly recommended for neurasthenia or nervous debility, neuralgia, sciatica, nervous headaches and St. Vitus' dance.

PLANS DISCUSSED IN SUPT. CAHILL'S OFFICE TO PREVENT CAR SHORTAGE

Newark Shops Hiring Every Available Car Repairer—Indications are That Worse Conditions Confront Shippers Than Any Since 1907.

That the quantity of traffic being moved by railroads at present is enormous, and that railroad facilities will be taxed to the utmost this fall, is the statement emanating officially from both the Baltimore and Ohio and the Pennsylvania railroads. The railroads have instructed their freight solicitors to urge shippers to assist the railroads in their efforts to prevent any car shortage.

The efforts being made by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad to serve its shippers, to furnish adequate numbers of cars, and to keep its equipment in shape for telling service, may be seen by the activities on the local division. In the shops in Newark and in Zanesville the road is hiring every available car repairer and is making strenuous efforts to place at the disposition of the shippers all the cars possible.

This morning, in the office of Superintendent M. H. Cahill, a meeting was held which was attended by the agents and yardmasters of the division. At this meeting the matters involving the equipment and plans to insure the most efficient service were under discussion. According to the statement of one of the officials of the division the Baltimore and Ohio is going to every extremity in its efforts to prevent a serious car shortage resulting from the demands which are being made upon the equipment in moving the crops. High officials of the road have rolled up their sleeves and gone into the yards checking cars and orders have been issued that not a single car be used for the transportation of company material, but that the cars be turned over to the shippers. As one railroad man put it, "The man who is found responsible for the unnecessary delay of a car is in danger of losing his job."

Realizing the demands that will be made upon them the railroads are taking steps to preclude, if possible, the likelihood of car shortage, and are advising patrons to have freight ready for loading when cars are placed on sidings, and are urging them to load all cars as near to capacity as practicable in order to get the greatest possible service out of each car used.

In making an appeal for co-operation, W. A. Garrett, chairman of the association of western railroads addressed the following to industrial traffic managers and commercial organizations:

"The time is here for the railroads and shippers of the United States to begin active and energetic preparations to prevent a car shortage. The indications are that if they do not begin such preparations at once they will be confronted next October with the worst situation that has existed since October, 1907, just before the panic. No railroad man or shipper needs to be told what that was. Railway facilities were inadequate to move the business. Yards and terminals were congested, and heavy loss to the railroads, the public, and the shippers resulted. Conditions that are likely to cause a heavy demand for, and a rapid reduction in the supply of cars exist. The amount of traffic handled varies greatly during different parts of the year. During about four months, beginning around October 1st, there are apt to be shortages. This is owing chiefly to the fact that this is the season of heaviest crop movement. The crop prospects in the west this year are unusually good. That helps to make the prospect of a car shortage unusually bad."

In their efforts to provide adequate shipping facilities the railroads are being substantially aided by the heads of large concerns, who realize the conditions and who understand that without the help of the shipper the railroad is seriously handicapped. This is shown by an extract from a letter sent out to the customers of a large manufacturing concern:

"To avoid a repetition of the conditions of 1907 we are taking the liberty of drawing the matter to your attention and would suggest that you endeavor to anticipate your fall requirements and place your orders at once for immediate delivery, so that no inconvenience will result through delay in transportation."

From all points come requests from the railroads that shippers load and unload freight with all possible dispatch that cars may not be held from further service any longer than is absolutely necessary.

An indication of the present condition is the fact that a local man stated that the Baltimore and Ohio was 1400 cars short of its requirements for grain movement in Chicago this morning even after it had turned over to its shippers some 200 cars.

+ BOOST NEWARK +

A Newark merchant has just sent to the Advocate the following lines written by C. H. Bogardus. The sentiment is certainly good. Read this, clip it out and mail it to the man with a grouse:

If you like the old town best, Tell 'em so.
If you'd have her lead the rest, Help her grow!
When there's anything to do, Let the fellows count on you;
You'll feel bully when it's through, Don't you know.

If you want to make a hit, Get a name!
If the other fellow's it, Who's to blame?
Spend your money in the town, Where you pull the shagles down;
Give the mail concern a frown— That's the game!

If you're used to giving knocks, Change your style!
Throw bouquets instead of rocks For awhile.
Let the other fellow roast: Shun him as you would a ghost;
Meet his hammer with a boast And a smile.
When a stranger from afar Comes along, Tell him who and what we are— Make it strong.
Needn't flatter, never bluff: Tell the truth, for that's enough.
Join the boosters—they're the stuff We belong.

PRAYER SERVICE FOR THE SCHOOLS SUNDAY, SEPT. 8th

All the world will pray for the public schools on September 8. From at least 2,500 pulpits in America and as many more in other countries a simultaneous prayer for free education will go up from millions of lips and the event will become an annual custom if the efforts of the National Reform association prevail.

This universal prayer is a definite part of the modern movement which will culminate in the Second World's Christian Citizenship Conference to be held in Portland, Oregon, June 28-July 6, 1913, which has been in the process of organization for nearly two years past.

Education for every child and the public schools in particular, loom up large in this work and many of the most prominent educators in the world will discuss the whole subject of education from the Portland platform. September 8 has been selected as the date for this universal prayer because it follows the opening of many of the public schools in the United States by only a few days. The Sunday schools are resuming in large attendance and the teachers of both are keyed up for their year's work and stand alone with the world and this simultaneous prayer is to bid all of them Godspeed in their undertakings.

YOUNG PEOPLES' MASS MEETING

The quarterly mass meeting of the United Young Peoples' Societies will be held Sunday, September 15th at 5 p. m. in the First M. E. church. Leader, Mr. Ralph Cass of the North Newark church. Subject, "The Best Foundation for the Building." We are all building, and for eternity. What is our foundation?

Let every one make an effort to be present, and make it a real consecration service to the work which follows in the coming weeks.

JUST ONE HALF OF THE COUNTY VOTED TUESDAY

It is an interesting and somewhat instructing study to look over the city and county vote at last Tuesday's election and compare the same with that in 1908, and in 1910.

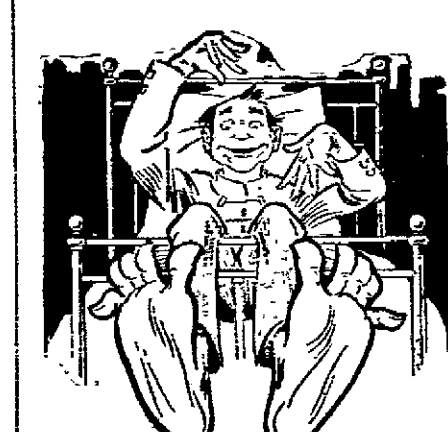

It can readily be seen that almost exactly 50 per cent of the average voting strength of the county is represented in this general comparison, and the proportion would fall still further below if the vote Tuesday were to be compared to the vote which will be cast next November, making a very conservative estimate of this natural decrease over four years and two years ago, as it must be remembered that this is a presidential year and the vote may be expected to be nearly a maximum on November 5th.

The figures were given the Advocate by Michael Sachs, clerk of the Board of Deputy County Supervisors of Elections and are as follows:

Total vote in city, November, 1908, 6,622.
Total vote in county, November, 1908, 15,209.
Total vote in city, November 1910, 5,489.
Total vote in county, November, 1910, 13,054.
Total vote in city, Sept. 3, 1912, 3,227.
Total vote in county, Sept. 3, 1912, 7,660.
